

SLEEVE GASTRECTOMY

The Vertical Sleeve Gastrectomy is a restrictive form of weight loss surgery where approximately 85% of the stomach is removed. The part of the stomach that is cut away is responsible for producing the hormone, grehlin which is partly responsible for stimulating hunger. This surgery is NOT reversible

This surgery is not approved for patients wishing to be seen by surgeons outside of a military treatment facility.

